

VI. ABSTRACT

A new and improved wireless cable box system is disclosed that allows video to transmit from a main transmitter box to a plurality of receivers via a low band signal. A cable would be connected to the main transmitter box, and the box would subsequently transmit a low band (video and sound) to the receivers. The receivers are attached to the input of their specific television.

0950133-092001